

Contents

List of Symbols .....	vii
List of Abbreviations.....	ix
Introduction .....	1

Part I: Literature Survey

1 Environmental Policy and Unemployment .....	7
1.1 The Need for Environmental Tax Reforms.....	7
1.2 The ‘Double Dividend’ .....	8
1.3 Death of the Double Dividend .....	11
1.4 Resurrection of the Double Dividend.....	12
1.5 Feasibility of the Double Dividend .....	17
1.6 The Double Dividend in the Long Run.....	21
1.7 Conclusion.....	22
2 Energy, Nonrenewable Resources and Growth.....	25
2.1 Introduction .....	25
2.2 Nonrenewable Resources in Theory .....	27
2.3 Nonrenewable Resources in Reality .....	31
2.4 Reconciling the Theory with the Evidence .....	34
2.5 Institutional Explanations for the Failure.....	38
2.6 Market Failures and Policy Intervention .....	41
2.7 Conclusion.....	41
3 Unemployment and Growth .....	43
3.1 Introduction .....	43
3.2 Persistent Unemployment in Economic Theory.....	44
3.3 Search and Matching .....	45
3.4 Labour Unions.....	59
3.5 Efficiency Wages .....	62
3.6 Skills and Human Capital.....	65
3.7 Conclusion.....	67

Part II: The Labour Market Model

4 Efficiency Wages and Union Wage Setting .....	73
4.1 Introduction .....	73
4.2 The Basic Model .....	74
4.3 Model Analysis and Discussion .....	81
4.4 Bargaining between Union and Employers.....	86
4.5 Conclusion.....	91
4.6 Appendix .....	93
5 The Effect of Taxes on Wages and Unemployment .....	95
5.1 Introduction .....	95
5.2 The baseline model without tax distortions.....	96
5.3 A few words on numerical solution methods.....	98
5.4 Policy I: A proportional income tax on the worker.....	99
5.5 Policy II: A proportional payroll tax on the firm .....	100
5.6 Policy III: An employment tax on workers.....	101
5.7 Policy IV: An employment tax on firms .....	107

5.8	Summary of Findings and Discussion.....	112
5.9	Conclusion.....	113
Part III: Short-Term Effects of an Environmental Tax Reform
6	Environmental Tax Reform.....	117
6.1	Introduction .....	117
6.2	The Labour Market Model .....	118
6.3	The Energy Extension .....	119
6.4	Environmental Tax Reforms .....	121
6.5	Conclusion.....	139
7	The Union's Decision Re-Visited .....	141
7.1	Introduction .....	141
7.2	The Basic Model .....	141
7.3	Environmental Tax Reform.....	144
7.4	Discussion .....	146
7.5	Conclusion.....	148
8	Alternative Environmental Tax Reform.....	151
8.1	Introduction .....	151
8.2	The Model without Government Intervention .....	151
8.3	Alternative ETR Design.....	156
8.4	Summary and Conclusion .....	183
Part IV: Long-Term Effects of an Environmental Tax Reform
9	The Double Dividend in a Small Open Economy with Perfect Capital Mobility.....	189
9.1	Introduction .....	189
9.2	The Basic Model .....	189
9.3	Short-Term Effects of an Environmental Tax Reform.....	193
9.4	Long-Term Effects of an Environmental Tax Reform.....	198
9.5	Discussion .....	202
9.6	Conclusion.....	203
10	The Double Dividend under Intersectoral Capital Mobility .....	205
10.1	Introduction .....	205
10.2	Model Setup .....	205
10.3	Solving the Model .....	206
10.4	Effects of an Environmental Tax Reform .....	208
10.5	Endogenous Unemployment Income .....	212
10.6	Conclusion.....	212
11	Environmental Policy, Unemployment and the Direction of Technical Change .....	215
11.1	Introduction .....	215
11.2	The Model by Smulders and de Nooij .....	216
11.3	The Extended Model .....	218
11.4	Energy Conservation without a Change in the Labour Tax .....	219
11.5	Effects of Environmental Policy with Change in the Labour Tax .....	225
11.6	Endogenous Technical Change .....	233
11.7	Conclusion.....	237
12	Environmental Policy and General Purpose Technologies .....	239
12.1	Introduction .....	239
12.2	General Purpose Technologies in Economic Theory .....	240
12.3	The Model Setup .....	242

12.4	Model Behaviour.....	249
12.5	Effects of Environmental Policy .....	251
12.6	Conclusion.....	254
Conclusion.....		255
	Summary .....	255
	Policy Implications.....	257
	Suggestions for Future Research.....	257
References .....		259
Samenvatting (Summary in Dutch).....		269
Curriculum Vitae.....		271