Institut für Kernphysik (IKP-4) Helmholtz-Institut für Strahlen- und Kernphysik, University of Bonn, Germany

Counteracting Trapped Ion Effects in the HESR

Frank Hinterberger

Contents

1.	Intro	oduction	5
2.	HES	R Layout and Beam Parameters	6
3.	Electric Field of the Antiproton Beam
	3.1	Potential well and electric field of a round beam of constant density	12
	3.2	Potential well and electric field of a beam with a bi-Gaussian charge distribution	12
	3.3	Maximum transverse electric field	14
	3.4	Longitudinal electric field components E_s	16
4.	UHV	⁷ Update	19
5.	The	Ionization Process	20
	5.1	Energy transfer	20
	5.2	Ionization cross section	20
6.	Mea	n Thermal Energy and Mean Thermal Velocity	22
7.	Prod	luction Time T_p , Clearing Time T_c and Neutralization η	23
	7.1	Production time T_p	23
	7.2	Clearing time T_c	25
	7.3	Neutralization η	25
8.	Ion Motion in Dipole Magnets
	8.1	Cyclotron motion of trapped ions in bending magnets	26
	8.2	$\vec{E} \times \vec{B}/B^2$ cross-field drift velocity in dipole magnets	27
	8.3	Estimate of the mean cross-field drift velocity in dipole magnets	29
9.	Ion I	Motion in Solenoids	31
	9.1	Cyclotron motion of trapped ions in solenoids	31
	9.2	Magnetron motion and modified cyclotron motion in solenoids due to the elec- tric field of the beam	31
	9.3	Fringe field of solenoids	33
	9.4	Adiabatic motion of trapped ions in the fringe field of solenoids	34
	9.5	Magnetic mirror effect of solenoids	34
	9.6	Mean thermal ion drift and clearing times T_c in solenoids $\ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots$	35
10	Clea	ring Electrodes	36
	10.1	Introductory remarks	36
	10.2	Clearing rates using single isolated clearing electrodes in straight sections	36

10.4 Electric field of continuous clearing electrodes 40 10.5 Estimate of the beam deflection by continuous clearing electrodes 41 10.6 Clearing rates using continuous clearing electrodes 41 11. Ion Clearing in Solenoids Using Transverse Cross-Field-Drift Velocities 43 12. Counteracting Trapped Ion Effects near the PANDA Target 45 12.1 Preliminary remark 45 12.2 Counteracting the very high production rates of H ¹ / ₂ ions near the PANDA target 54 12.5 Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target 54 12.6 The dripole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 58 12.7 The dripole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 58 12.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target 58 12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the Arcs 59 13.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities 59 13.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center 64 13.5 Estimate of beam meutralization with beam shifting in the arcs 64 13.6		10.3	Continuous clearing electrodes	38
10.5 Estimate of the beam deflection by continuous clearing electrodes 41 10.6 Clearing rates using continuous clearing electrodes 41 11. Ion Clearing in Solenoids Using Transverse Cross-Field-Drift Velocities 43 12. Counteracting Trapped Ion Effects near the PANDA Target 45 12.1 Preliminary remark 45 12.2 Counteracting the very high production rates of H ¹ / ₂ ions near the PANDA target 53 12.4 The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target 54 12.5 Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid 54 12.6 The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 58 12.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target 58 12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane 58 13.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities 59 13.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center 62 13.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets 63 13.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs 64 13.5		10.4	Electric field of continuous clearing electrodes	40
10.6 Clearing rates using continuous clearing electrodes 41 11. Ion Clearing in Solenoids Using Transverse Cross-Field-Drift Velocities 43 12. Counteracting Trapped Ion Effects near the PANDA Target 45 12.1 Preliminary remark 45 12.2 Counteracting the very high production rates of H^+_2 ions near the PANDA target 50 12.3 The PANDA target solenoid 53 12.4 The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target 54 12.5 Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid 54 12.6 The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 58 12.7 The drift spaces near the PANDA target 58 12.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target 58 12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane 58 13. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs 59 13.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field with velocities 59 13.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center 64 13.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs 64 13.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets 67 13.7 Ion clearing i		10.5	Estimate of the beam deflection by continuous clearing electrodes	41
11. Ion Clearing in Solenoids Using Transverse Cross-Field-Drift Velocities 43 12. Counteracting Trapped Ion Effects near the PANDA Target 45 12.1 Preliminary remark 45 12.2 Counteracting the very high production rates of H_2^+ ions near the PANDA target 50 12.3 The PANDA target solenoid 53 12.4 The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target 54 12.5 Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid 54 12.6 The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 56 12.7 The drift spaces near the PANDA target 58 12.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target 58 12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane 58 13. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs 59 13.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities 59 13.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs 64 13.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets 67 13.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes 71 14. Damping of Coherent Instabilities 73 14.1 lon oscillations 73		10.6	Clearing rates using continuous clearing electrodes	41
12. Counteracting Trapped Ion Effects near the PANDA Target 45 12.1 Preliminary remark 45 12.2 Counteracting the very high production rates of H ⁺ ₂ ions near the PANDA target 50 12.3 The PANDA target solenoid 53 12.4 The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target 54 12.5 Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid 54 12.6 The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 58 12.7 The drift spaces near the PANDA target 58 12.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target 58 12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane 58 13. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs 59 13.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities 59 13.3 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center 62 13.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets 63 13.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs 64 13.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs 70 13.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes 71 14.1 Ion oscillations 72 <	11.	Ion (Clearing in Solenoids Using Transverse Cross-Field-Drift Velocities	43
12.1Preliminary remark4512.2Counteracting the very high production rates of H_2^+ ions near the PANDA target5012.3The PANDA target solenoid5312.4The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target5412.5Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid5412.6The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target5612.7The drift spaces near the PANDA target5812.8The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target5812.9The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane5813.Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs5913.1Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities5913.2Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center6213.3Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6413.6Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114.1Ion oscillations7214.2Formalism of coherent instabilities7714.5Risk of coherent instabilities7714.5Risk of coherent instabilities8115.1Formalism8215.2Experimental observations83 </td <td>12.</td> <td>Cou</td> <td>nteracting Trapped Ion Effects near the PANDA Target</td> <td>45</td>	12.	Cou	nteracting Trapped Ion Effects near the PANDA Target	45
12.2 Counteracting the very high production rates of H_2^+ ions near the PANDA target 50 12.3 The PANDA target solenoid 53 12.4 The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target 54 12.5 Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid 54 12.6 The diple spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 56 12.7 The drift spaces near the PANDA target 58 12.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target 58 12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane 58 13.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities 59 13.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center 62 13.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets 64 13.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets 67 13.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes 70 13.4 Timing of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs 64 13.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets		12.1	Preliminary remark	45
12.3 The PANDA target solenoid 53 12.4 The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target 54 12.5 Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid 54 12.6 The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 56 12.7 The drift spaces near the PANDA target 58 12.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target 58 12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane 58 13. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs 59 13.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities 59 13.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center 62 13.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets 63 13.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs 64 13.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets 67 13.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes 71 14. Damping of Coherent Instabilities 72 14.1 Ion oscillations 72 14.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities 77 14.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities 77 14.4 Numerical r		12.2	Counteracting the very high production rates of H_2^+ ions near the PANDA target	50
12.4 The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target 54 12.5 Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid 54 12.6 The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target 56 12.7 The drift spaces near the PANDA target 58 12.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target 58 12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane 58 13. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs 59 13.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities 59 13.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center 62 13.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets 63 13.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs 64 13.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs 70 13.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes 71 14. Damping of Coherent Instabilities 72 14.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities 77 14.5 Risk of coherent instabilities 77 14.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems 81 15.1 Formalism 82 15.2 Experimenta		12.3	The PANDA target solenoid	53
12.5Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid		12.4	The compensation solenoid near the PANDA target	54
12.6 The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target5612.7 The drift spaces near the PANDA target5812.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target5812.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane5813. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs5913.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities5913.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center6213.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6313.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114.1 Ion oscillations7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7314.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4 Numerical results7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities using feedback systems8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115.1 Formalism8215.1 Formalism8215.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		12.5	Neutralization $\eta(s)$ if continuous ion clearing is abandoned in the region of the compensation solenoid and the PANDA target solenoid $\ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots$	54
12.7 The drift spaces near the PANDA target5812.8 The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target5812.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane5813. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs5913.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities5913.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center6213.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6313.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114. Damping of Coherent Instabilities7214.1 Ion oscillations7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities7714.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		12.6	The dipole spectrometer magnet near the PANDA target	56
12.8The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target5812.9The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane5813. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs5913.1Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities5913.2Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center6213.3Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6313.4Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114.1Ion oscillations7214.2Formalism of coherent instabilities7714.5Risk of coherent instabilities7714.6Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115.Beam Shaking8215.1Formalism8315.3Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		12.7	The drift spaces near the PANDA target	58
12.9 The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane5813. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs5913.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities5913.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center6213.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6313.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114. Damping of Coherent Instabilities7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		12.8	The quadrupole magnets near the PANDA target	58
13. Mitigation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs5913.1 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities5913.2 Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center6213.3 Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6313.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114. Damping of Coherent Instabilities7214.1 Ion oscillations7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7714.4 Numerical results7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		12.9	The upstream and downstream dipole magnets of the PANDA chicane	58
13.1Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities5913.2Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center6213.3Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6313.4Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114.Damping of Coherent Instabilities7214.2Formalism of coherent instabilities7714.3Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4Numerical results7714.5Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115.1Formalism8215.2Experimental observations8315.3Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84	13.	Miti	gation of Trapped Ion Effects in the Dipole Magnets of the Arcs	59
13.2Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center6213.3Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6313.4Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes71 14. Damping of Coherent Instabilities 7214.1Ion oscillations7214.2Formalism of coherent instabilities7314.3Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4Numerical results7714.5Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6Damping of instabilities using feedback systems81 15. Beam Shaking 8215.1Formalism8215.2Experimental observations8315.3Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		13.1	Ion clearing in dipole magnets by mean cross-field drift velocities	59
13.3Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets6313.4Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes71 14. Damping of Coherent Instabilities 7214.2Formalism of coherent instabilities7214.3Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4Numerical results7714.5Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115.Beam Shaking8215.1Formalism8215.2Experimental observations8315.3Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		13.2	Vanishing of cross-field drift velocity in the beam center	62
13.4 Timing of beam shifting in the arcs6413.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114. Damping of Coherent Instabilities7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7214.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4 Numerical results7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8215.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		13.3	Suppression of the ion peak in the center of dipole magnets	63
13.5 Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs6413.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets6713.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes71 14. Damping of Coherent Instabilities 7214.1 Ion oscillations7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7314.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4 Numerical results7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8215.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		13.4	Timing of beam shifting in the arcs	64
13.6 Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets .6713.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes .7013.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes .7114. Damping of Coherent Instabilities .7214.1 Ion oscillations .7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities .7314.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities .7714.4 Numerical results .7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities .8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems .8115. Beam Shaking 15.1 Formalism .8215.2 Experimental observations .8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam .84		13.5	Estimate of beam neutralization with beam shifting in the arcs	64
13.7 Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes7013.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114. Damping of Coherent Instabilities7214.1 Ion oscillations7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7314.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4 Numerical results7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8215.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		13.6	Shift of zero crossings of the closed orbit distortion inside of dipole magnets	67
13.8 Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes7114. Damping of Coherent Instabilities7214.1 Ion oscillations7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7314.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4 Numerical results7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8215.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		13.7	Ion clearing in dipole magnets by continuous clearing electrodes	70
14. Damping of Coherent Instabilities7214.1 Ion oscillations7214.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7314.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4 Numerical results7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8215.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		13.8	Continuous ion clearing in dipole magnets using two half-cylinder electrodes .	71
14.1Ion oscillations7214.2Formalism of coherent instabilities7314.3Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4Numerical results7714.5Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115.Beam Shaking8215.1Formalism8215.2Experimental observations8315.3Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84	14.	Dam	ping of Coherent Instabilities	72
14.2 Formalism of coherent instabilities7314.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities7714.4 Numerical results7714.5 Risk of coherent instabilities8114.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems8115. Beam Shaking8215.1 Formalism8215.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		14.1	Ion oscillations	72
14.3 Landau damping of coherent instabilities 77 14.4 Numerical results 77 14.5 Risk of coherent instabilities 81 14.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems 81 14.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems 81 15.1 Formalism 82 15.2 Experimental observations 83 15.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam 84		14.2	Formalism of coherent instabilities	73
14.4 Numerical results 77 14.5 Risk of coherent instabilities 81 14.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems 81 14.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems 81 15. Beam Shaking 82 15.1 Formalism 82 15.2 Experimental observations 83 15.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam 84		14.3	Landau damping of coherent instabilities	77
14.5 Risk of coherent instabilities 81 14.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems 81 15. Beam Shaking 82 15.1 Formalism 82 15.2 Experimental observations 83 15.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam 84		14.4	Numerical results	77
14.6 Damping of instabilities using feedback systems		14.5	Risk of coherent instabilities	81
15. Beam Shaking 82 15.1 Formalism 82 15.2 Experimental observations 83 15.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam 84		14.6	Damping of instabilities using feedback systems	81
15.1 Formalism8215.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84	15.	Bear	n Shaking	82
15.2 Experimental observations8315.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam84		15.1	Formalism	82
15.3 Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam		15.2	Experimental observations	83
		15.3	Resonant transverse shaking of the HESR beam	84

16. Trapped Ion Effects in the Electron Cooler
16.1	Negative potential well of the electron beam	86
16.2	Ionization rate and neutralization due to the electron beam	87
16.3	Upper limit of EC neutralization by trapped ions at high beam energies	91
16.4	Lower limit of EC neutralization by trapped ions at low beam energies	91
16.5	Consideration of lower and upper limits of EC neutralization	91
17. Drav	wbacks of the Space-Charge Potential of the Electron Beam	93
17.1	Dependence of the electron energy on the space-charge potential of the electron beam	93
17.2	Azimuthal velocities due to the space-charge potential of the electron beam	95
18. Counteracting Space-Charge Effects of the EC beam
18.1	Neutralization of the electron-cooling beam with trapped ions	98
18.2	Measurement of the EC neutralization	99
18.3	Stabilization of the EC neutralization	99
18.4	What is the optimum neutralization of the electron beam at low energies?	100
18.5	Stabilization of the optimum neutralization $\eta = 1/\gamma_e^2$ at low energies	101
18.6	Adjustment of the EC neutralization at higher energies	102
19. Sum	19. Summary and Conclusions

Jül-4357 Oktober 2012 ISSN 0944-2952

